Reflect For a Moment on Thanksgiving Day

LIFTED: In our hurry we sometimes pass over both spoken and printed words that would enrich us if we paused long enough to read or listen, then reflect a moment.

There are "Thoughts for Today," in many newspapers and I'm as guilty as the next guy at passing over them to get to the sport page or somewhere else.

There are good messages on the air waves that we'll ignore to get to something more entertaining.

And coming up right now is a thought-provoking article on Thanksgiving that a lot of us will pass up to read about the weather, the killings (both by weapon and machine), the parties and the sports.

But despite all this, today we run a Thanksgiving item written by Marilyn Dahl back in 1953 and printed in Gluey Gleanings. The Harrisburg Public Schools Bulletin picked it up and we are lifting it from the Bulletin.

It is titled "Let Us Give Thanks for Our Many Blessings," and here it is:

"Save a minute of your busy Thanksgiving Day for a word of prayer, if it's only a whisper as you take the last spoonful of dressing from the holiday turkey.

"Americans are inclined to be cynical. We poke fun at politics, laugh about emotions, gripe about high taxes, bosses and landlords. Those are privileges shared by few others in the world today. And American privileges have come at high cost.

"The Pilgrims who landed at Plymouth in 1620 were a motley crew of outcasts, fanatics and idealists. By today's standards they were neither successful nor socially desirable.

"But those men and women brought qualities to this country that have never been lost... spirit of determination, recognition of personal worth, and faith in God.

"Recognition of personal worth has guaranteed equality for every man, limited only by his own willingness to earn respect. It has given him the opportunity to excel on his own merit.

"This is, even today, a land of promise for the modern pioneer who will blaze a trail.

"Faith in God has not dimmed through the years of American history. In 1621, the Pilgrims gathered to give thanks for a bountiful harvest, natural riches and blessings of the new land.

"That first Thanksgiving feast was recognition that God was with them. As they shared the venison and corn, squash and berries with the Indians, the founding fathers asked God for His continuing love.

"Thanksgiving has become a feast day, over the centuries, celebrated exclusively in November by the United States. Only Canada has a similar day, observed in October."

Carmi Man is Fatally Shot

PRINCETON, Ind. — A Carmi man was fatally shot near here yesterday and John Armstrong, 61, of Princeton has admitted the shooting. Gibson county Sheriff Earl Hollen said today.

Dead is Lennis W. Koon, 40, of Carmi, an employee of the Pacific Pump Co. of Tulsa, Okla.

The shooting occurred at 4:45 p. m. while Koon was visiting at the Armstrong home near here.

Armstrong told Sheriff Hollen that he shot Koon with a 12-gauge shotgun, the charge striking Koon under the heart and killing him instantly.

Armstrong, a retired farmer, told the sheriff that the two got into an argument and that Koon, an old friend, threatened to whip him. Armstrong said that during the row Koon said to him, "You don't have the guts to shoot me," after which Armstrong went to his bedroom, got the gun and fired.

The sheriff then was called by Armstrong, who brought the man to the county jail here for questioning.

Hollen said he plans to file a murder charge against Armstrong.

No Signs of Fatigue by Ike, Doctors Report

President Puts Aside Work for Arrival of 'My Kids'

GETTYSBURG, Pa. — President Eisenhower's physicians reported today that he came through his first days of concentrated executive activity without showing signs of fatigue.

"There has been no symptom or evidence of fatigue from the activities of his office or at the farm," they said in a medical bulletin after an extensive examination.

The President was examined before breakfast by Col. Thomas W. Mattingly, top heart specialist at Walter Reed Hospital in Washington, and Dr. Howard McC. Snyder, the White House physician.

They gave the President an electro-cardiogram and "blood chemistry" test.

Mr. Eisenhower will interrupt his stay here to go to Washington on Dec. 10 for x-ray and fluoroscopic examination of his heart at Walter Reed. This is a standard check to determine whether increased activity has caused enlargement.

There has been no evidence in previous X-ray examinations of heart enlargement.

After his morning medical examination, Mr. Eisenhower left his farm for a brief period of work in his downtown office.

Early this afternoon he was scheduled to go to a specially prepared room at Gettysburg College to make a five-minute film for Inter showing to the White House Conference on Education which opens Monday in Washington.

The President put aside many government problems temporarily today. The big event was the afternoon arrival from Ft. Belvoir, Va., of "my kids," the three children of the President's son, Maj. John S. Eisenhower.

The John Eisenhowers who are expecting a fourth child by Christmas, will have Thanksgiving dinner, featuring a 40-pound turkey, with the President and Mrs. Eisenhower Thursday.

The President returned to Gettysburg Tuesday from the presidential retreat in the nearby Maryland Catoctin Mountains where he met formally with his cabinet for the first time since last summer.

After the cabinet meeting Presidential Press Secretary James C. Hagerty talked with reporters and reaffirmed Mr. Eisenhower's support of Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson's controversial farm policies. Hagerty did so in denying published reports that Dr. Milton Eisenhower, the President's brother, interceded to save Benson his job.

Be Thankful, Rev. Morman Tells Kiwanians

How many times do we stop to think of the things for which we should be grateful? Rev. Joe Morman, pastor of the First Baptist church, asked members of the Kiwanis club last night.

It is a good thing to stop and think once in a while, he said.

Rev. Morman's talk was delivered in the club's observance of Thanksgiving Day.

He told of the history of Thanksgiving, stating it has come forth out of turmoil and unrest in the past.

The first Thanksgiving Day was not a thanksgiving in that sense, he said. It was a gathering together of the Pilgrims for a few days of feasting. But a few years later, with a harvest failure, the arrival of a ship load of food and other necessary things brought about a day of real thanksgiving.

From then on, he said, Thanksgiving Days were proclaimed following periods of unrest.

Thanksgiving, Rev. Morman said, is a greater day in history than what we make of it now. We use it as a day of feasting, he said, and have gotten away from the real significance of thanksgiving.

It should be a time to stop and think of the things God has given us to be thankful for.

"We should be grateful that God has smiled on this nation," he said.

Following the talk each member was asked to express what he was especially thankful for.

Rev. Morman was introduced by Loy Barber.

President Dan Davis announced the board of directors would meet Monday at 7 p. m. at the Loy Barber accounting office on South Granger street.

HERMAN MOLSINGER DISPATCHES MAIL FOR THE LAST TIME—Tuesday, Nov. 22, was the last day at the Harrisburg post office for Herman Molsinger, who has retired after almost 45 years duty with the United States postal service. One of his last dispatches was The Daily Registers, which were taken to the Harrisburg post office about 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. "Monty" was busy getting the Registers properly dispatched when the photo was taken. (Register Staff Photo)

Herman Molsinger Retires After Nearly 45 Years' Work at Post Office

Herman Molsinger has retired from the United States postal service after almost 45 years' duty. Tuesday, Nov. 22, was Mr. Molsinger's last day at the Harrisburg post office. He first reported for duty March 1, 1911—forty-four years and nine months ago.

Mr. Molsinger will observe his 70th birthday Thanksgiving Day, Nov. 24. Retirement from the post office is mandatory at the age of 70, but "Monty's" retirement will not become effective until Nov. 30 as he has some accumulated leave time.

When Mr. Molsinger first began to work at the Harrisburg post office it was located on West Poplar street in the buildings now housing the Schwartz Barber shop and

Bomb Found In Girls' Dorm

AMES, Iowa — Authorities began a needle-in-a-haystack search today for the person or persons who planted a homemade bomb in an Iowa state college dormitory, endangering the lives of 136 coeds.

The device was found, chained to the bannisters of a stairway. An automobile horn blared out in the early morning hours Sunday, awakening janitor Arthur Larson.

Larson found the box, containing an automobile battery, five sticks of dynamite, and an "ingenious" triggering device, with a note thumbtacked on the outside.

"Read carefully!" it said. "No one need get hurt. The device will detonate 20 minutes after horn sounds or on movement of box."

Police Chief Orville Erickson said Larson risked his life by ripping the device apart, disconnecting the detonator cap.

The detonator circuit ran through a mousetrap, held open by an alarm clock. Twenty minutes after the warning of the auto horn, the trap would have been sprung, setting off five sticks of dynamite.

College officials apparently considered the affair a "prank," Erickson said, and authorities were not notified until Tuesday. They began an exhaustive check, theorizing that a rejected suitor might be responsible, or an emotionally unstable "mechanical genius."

Drivers License Exam Stations Closed Thursday and Friday

Drivers License Examination stations throughout the state of Illinois will be closed Thursday and Friday of this week in observance of the Thanksgiving holiday, it has been announced.

Army Cuts Strength Of First Cavalry Division in Japan

TOKYO —The U. S. Army disclosed today it is cutting the 1st Cavalry Division now stationed in Japan by some 4,000 men in a further reduction of American troop strength in the Far East.

Sen. Humphrey Defends Foreign Policy Attacks

Says 'Bipartisanship' Does Not Mean 'Rubber-Stampism'

WASHINGTON — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) told protesting Republicans today that "bipartisanship" in foreign policy "does not mean rubber-stampism."

He thus defended Democratic presidential aspirants against GOP complaints that they have repudiated bipartisanship by their criticism of the Eisenhower administration's foreign policy.

Only last Saturday, Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson told a Texas audience that he did not expect foreign policy to be a political issue in the 1956 campaign.

In varying degree, however, Adlai E. Stevenson, Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) and Gov. Averell Harriman of New York had some critical remarks about administration foreign policy in weekend speeches. The three are regarded as the chief contenders for the Democratic presidential nomination next year.

"We need a bipartisan foreign policy and the administration has received bipartisan support on the broad outlines of foreign policy," Humphrey contended to reporters.

"Bipartisanship does not mean rubber-stampism. It does not mean that you give up your right to talk openly and freely over differences you have on the fulfillment of foreign policy."

Humphrey is a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and a Stevenson backer.

In a statement Tuesday night, Sen. Clifford P. Case (R-N.J.) said Democratic presidential possibilities had made general attacks on President Eisenhower's foreign policy without any "positive" recommendations of their own for improvements.

He said Mr. Eisenhower has great prestige throughout the world as a "man of peace" and that his leadership should be strengthened rather than used "as a target of negative criticism alone."

President Calls for Prayers of Gratitude

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower, in his annual Thanksgiving Day proclamation, called on the nation to give "prayers of gratitude for the abundance of our endowments."

The President also gave thanks to the Pilgrims through whose "steadfastness and faith the ideals of liberty and justice have become our cherished inheritance."

"May we show our thanks for our own bounty by remembrance of those less fortunate and may the spirit of this Thanksgiving season move us to share with them to alleviate their need," he said.

Two Marines, Girl Killed in Crash

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. — Two Marines and a girl were killed Tuesday when their auto crashed into a concrete bridge.

Marines James Morse, 20, reported to be from Rockford, Ill., and Floyd Champlin, 19, and 16-year-old Rosind Sandoval, Palm Springs died in the crash. Champlin and Morse were stationed at Twenty-Nine Palms Marine Base.

Plane Out of Control on Carrier Deck Kills Six Men

WASHINGTON — A fighter plane careened out of control down the deck of the aircraft carrier Ticonderoga Monday night, killing six men and seriously injuring another.

The Navy announced that the accident occurred in the Mediterranean where the Ticonderoga is operating with the 6th Fleet.

The Navy said an F2H Banshee, piloted by Ens. Otis C. Lightner, Altus, Okla., was making a landing on the carrier after a night navigation flight. When its tail hook failed to engage an arresting wire, the plane bounced over a barricade, careened down the deck and over the bow.

The pilot was picked out of the water 20 minutes later by a motor whaleboat from the destroyer Goodrich. Lightner suffered only scratches and bruises and was not seriously injured.

Among the killed was Charles E. Allen, airman, Doolton, Ill.

Army Revises Security Regulations To Protect Soldiers from Charges

WASHINGTON —The Army today revised its personnel security regulations to protect the individual soldier against unsubstantiated or anonymous charges.

The revised regulations provide that information which might prejudice an individual's reputation shall not be included in his official personnel file if such information is "unsupported."

The regulations also provide that in general, no adverse information can be made a part of an individual's record without his knowledge or without the charges.

The new regulations resulted from an overhauling of the security program ordered by Army Secretary Wilber M. Brucker last summer. They follow by only a few days a new Defense Department directive specifying that draftees suspected of being security risks will be investigated before, rather than after, being inducted.

The Senate subcommittee on constitutional rights called Jerome D. Fenton, the Pentagon's specialist on personnel security, for questioning today. Fenton handles the security program for uniformed servicemen, the program for civilian employees in the defense establishment and the industrial security program at defense plants.

Types of Information

The new Army regulations state they are designed to preclude two types of information from being filed in an individual's record:

1. "Unsupported or unacted upon adverse matter, other than counter intelligence information, which will prejudice the individual's reputation or future in the military service."

2. "Allegations which have been satisfactorily rebutted and/or have not resulted in elimination or disciplinary action."

The regulations state flatly that "no anonymous communication will be made a part of the individual's record."

To give an individual an opportunity to rebut allegations, the regulations provide that "no adverse matter... will be made a part of an individual's record without his knowledge and an opportunity being afforded him either to make a written statement in reply to the adverse information... or to decline, in writing, to make such a statement."

Benson Appeals for Everyone To Help Solve Farm Problems

CLEVELAND, Ohio — Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson today appealed to "everyone" for help in solving the nation's farm problems.

Benson made his broad appeal in a speech prepared for the 89th annual convention of the National Grange.

"I ask everyone of you — both here at this National Grange meeting and home by your radios — to send me your ideas about solutions to the problems we face," Benson said. "Every suggestion will be considered and every letter will receive a personal answer."

"We will listen to any suggestions — from any source — except the suggestion that would turn back to the programs that helped create our present difficult problems."

To Avoid Rigid Supports

Thus he turned down in advance any suggestions that the government return to a system of rigid 90 per cent price supports for farm commodities. He also said the present system of flexible price supports is not sufficient to meet farm problems of surplus, overproduction, and declining farm income.

"Rigid supports were useful in wartime," Benson said. "They have failed in peacetime. Flexible supports wisely used can be helpful in peacetime and should be used. But in view of present surpluses, they are not and never will be enough."

"The prime reason why farm families are not sharing fully in our unprecedented prosperity is the accumulation of surplus stocks of major farm commodities — surpluses so big that they drive down the prices farmers get for their current production," Benson said. "These surpluses have accumulated under rigid supports."

To Seek Improvement

Benson said he is "going to do everything I can — everything which is sound — to improve the economic position of our farmers."

He quoted President Eisenhower as saying that "what has been done in the past three years is sound."

The farm problem, Benson said, "is too important to be used as a political football."

Benson said the department is making progress "but much more must be done."

He said situations had been solved involving beef, dairy products, and eggs. But impending is what to do about surplus commodities costing about seven billion dollars. More than $3,500,000,000 of that is tied up in wheat and cotton.

Three Contestants Tap TV Quiz Till for $56,000

NEW YORK — A seed salesman, a girl psychologist and a coal miner tapped the till for $56,000 on "The $64,000 Question."

Tuesday night to set the stage for what could be the biggest giveaway night in history.

The three will be given the chance next Tuesday of doubling their winnings or bowing out. Their potential total earnings could reach $112,000, by far the largest sum ever offered on a single program.

Steven Frohlich, a seed salesman from Princeton, N. J., ran his stake to $32,000 in the category, American history. Frohlich, a naturalized American citizen, answered a seven-part poser dealing with constitutional amendments.

The second biggest winner, Joyce Brothers of New York, ran her string to $16,000 by answering a boxing query. Stanley Skeens, a miner from Danville, Va., moved to the $8,000 level. Skeens, a Bible expert, earned his pay by reciting three verses of the first Psalm of David.

Mrs. Marian Elizabeth Kearney, 23, was given a suspended jail sentence Monday by Judge George Francis, who ordered her to continue psychiatric treatment.

She faced a manslaughter charge. Her son, Patrick, 3 months, was found dead in his crib July 20 at the family home.

Give Special Thanks

Editorial By Bruce Bissat
Americans will surely offer thanks this year that they and the rest of the peoples of the earth
seem on a firmer footing of peace than in many a long day. They can be grateful, too, that they are on the highest plane of well-being in the nation's history.

But beyond these things, the American people may be minded to voice a special Thanksgiving
prayer that their President, Dwight D. Eisenhower, has so far come safely through his dangerous illness.

To millions of citizens in this land and abroad, he is the image of decency, of calm devotion to fundamentals of human cooperation, of dedication to the cause of peace.

These millions somehow feel their safety bound up with this man. They are fond of him as they are fond of a friend and protector, for that is how they see him. When he was struck down it was like sickness in the family.

When so many hold a man in such deep affection, you hear it said now and then that this is unfortunate for the country. Some say that Mr. Eisenhower is a "fat ther image," and that it is not right for people to feel so dependent on a single public figure.

A little of this talk is politically inspired by men who are grouching because this particular "father" doesn't happen to lead their own party. But a good deal of it is sincere.

Perhaps it would be very good
if more Americans showed today
a greater spirit of self-reliance than is evident. But in the circumstances of this age, that does not appear to be in prospect.

The complexities and bewilderments of this time drive men to look for guidance and help. They cannot thread their way through the daily dilemmas that confront them on every hand. It is understandable that they should thus turn to someone they believe is competent to meet their problems and master them.

In other lands and other times,
men similarly beset have unwisely chosen tyrants to solve their difficulties.

We can all be thankful that Americans searching for guidance
have put their trust not in a dictator, nor even in a power-conscious democratic leader, but in a man whose decent, humane instincts make him the very opposite of the autocrat.

If men like President Eisenhower or represent the sort of image Americans admire and put their confidence in, then there is no cause for alarm.

We need feel no sadness, either,
that men see in him a personal helper. We should be quite content that they look to him, and that they perhaps choose now to pray thanks for his progress toward full recovery.

The DAILY WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says:
Our Foreign Affairs Attention Time Are Not Quite As Black As They Look.
Political Propagandists Took
Public Too High On Geneva
Summit; Peace With Russia Is Long But Not Impossible Uphill Pull.

WASHINGTON. — This is the season when the American people give thanks for their blessings. It is also a time when there seems little to be thankful for regarding the dream held out at Geneva
last July for peace with a powerful potential enemy.

John Foster Dulles has just given a report to President Eisenhower which was more blunt and more pessimistic than that which he gave to the American people that the Geneva conference was a flat failure. He told the President in unvarnished language that there seemed no hope of getting along with Russia and that the cold war was on again full force.

Simultaneously, Premier Bulganin and party boss Khrushchev
are being received with wild acclaim in the Middle East; are making extravagant offers of economic aid to India, Burma and Afghanistan.

This comes on top of earlier efforts to build the Aswan dam on the upper Nile for Egypt, on top of arms to Syria and Egypt, an invitation to King Saud of Arabia to visit Moscow, and on top of sour-ing relations between our two good allies, Greece and Turkey; also on top of demonstrations against us in Greece; where we have expended millions of dollars and man hours for support and friendship.

GERMANY AND RUSSIA

Simultaneously, U. S. Ambassador James Conant in Germany has cabled that a group of German businessmen known as the Konigstein circle already has started confidential talks with East German Communists for a deal between Russia and Germany. In other words, with the Geneva conference failing to bring German unity, the Russians and Germans must inevitably tackle it without us—which means that Germany is sure to retire from our NATO alliance.

This, of course, is what the French have been telling us all along.

Dulles also must report to the President, if he has not already done so, that another meeting in Geneva is badly bogged down—that between the United States and Red China. U. S. representatives discussing prisoners and other problems with the Chinese Communists in Geneva have refused a Chinese request for a meeting next spring between Secretary Dulles and Premier Chou En Lai. As a result, the Chinese are about to pull out of the Geneva talks, and can be expected to begin bombarding Quemoy and Matsu shortly thereafter. This will revive the Formosa crisis, quiescent since last May.

The reason Dulles refuses to talk to Chou En Lai is quite simple. An election is upcoming in the United States. So Dulles doesn't want to lay a Republican administration open to criticism for going farther than the Democrats ever did in talking to Red China.

In other words, politics has become an important rudder in guiding our foreign affairs.

POLITICS GUIDES POLICY

Secretary Dulles' Republican
friends, it is true, but politics
snafu-bag into foreign affairs during the Korean war. They kept pounding on the importance of unleashing Chiang Kai-Shek's troops, and exoriated Truman for keeping Chiang, allegedly with hands tied, on Formosa.

Now, of course, the present administration is right back where Truman was and like actually asked Congress for a resolution authorizing him to bomb the Chinese mainland in order to protect Chiang, not unleash him.

So it's only natural for Dulles
to fear that Democratic circles
turn the trick and criticize his current failures.

The injection of politics into foreign affairs incidentally, is one thing we should be most unthankful for today.

For when you consider the Geneva conference carefully, you will find its failure resulted partially from politics. It resulted from the fact that the Geneva summit meeting was built up into a great triumph when actually it was no triumph—merely a hazardous but very worth-while start on a most difficult path to peace.

Reason it was built into such a triumph was pure politics. The Madison Avenue boys around Eisenhower saw Geneva as a great propaganda weapon to make him run again. He was, of course, reluctant even then. But they saw Geneva as a chance to sell the public on demanding the re-electing of the indispensable man.

The Eisenhower popularity poll,
it will be recalled, shot way up after Geneva. He had been having trouble over Dixon Yates, the beginning of the Harold Talbot scandal, failure to pass a school bill, a highway bill, over the bungling of Salk vaccine, and the ineptitude of Mrs. Hobby.

But suddenly these domestic problems and bunglings faded to insignificance as the Geneva summit meeting gave the Madison Avenue boys the chance to usher
in a new era of Republican peace.

IKE WAS OK

Actually, Ike did a good job at Geneva. That was my opinion, and I was there. But what he did was make a start toward the solution of an extremely difficult problem which could not be solved in a week, a month, or a year, and which should have been fanned up as a great victory by the political propagandists.

What they did was to take an unsuspecting and gullible public
up to the Geneva summit of hope, then let us down to the valley of disappointment.

Peace doesn't come that way.
And our foreign affairs, while not in good shape, are not in as bad shape as the headlines indicate.

All of this is by way of saying that I think we have more to be thankful for—or perhaps less to be unthankful for—at this Thanksgiving time than appears on the surface.

Naval Reserve Is Now Open To Enlistments

Chief P. O. Don C. Lingle stated today men 17 to 31 years of age may now enlist in the U. S. Naval Reserve and fulfill their service obligations. Men, 18½ to 31, who can meet current USNR enlistment standards and have not been ordered to report for induction, can volunteer for immediate active duty, serving two years on active duty and then three years with the ready reserves and one year in the standby reserves.

The ready reserve unit trains one week end per month for which members are paid.

Men, 17 to 18½, may volunteer accordingly. However, if they are attending high school or college
they may have their active duty orders delayed until such time as they cease to pursue their courses, graduate from high school, complete the current year college, or until they reach age 20—which ever comes first.

Men to age 39 may also volunteer in certain rates now open providing they have had previous military service and their total years previous service deducts them within the present age brings them within the 39 year limit and also meet with certain restrictions on dependency.

Further information may be obtained by a personal visit or by writing to the "Enrollment Officer," U. S. Naval Air Station, Lambert Field, St. Louis, Mo. A naval reserve representative, Chief P. O.
Don C. Lingle, will be at the post office in Carbondale every Thursday afternoon and will be pleased to dispense information or answer questions pertaining to the new naval reserve program.

"MOUTH-PAINTED BY MERLE"—Two years ago, Merle Chisholm, pretty, 28-year-old St. Paul wife and mother, was a commercial artist. Today she is polio-paralyzed from the neck down. But she has wasted no time in self-pity. She set about to learn to draw and paint again with a pencil or brush clenched in her teeth. She won that battle and has built a new artistic career with a collection of exclusive "mouth-painted-by-Merle" Christmas cards and personal note paper. Her husband, Robert, is also an artist. Here their four-year-old son, Gary, watches in fascination as his mother draws a picture.

Jail Prisoners Donate Blood For Ailing Judge

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Common Pleas Judge Thomas J. O'Connor, recuperating from a stomach ulcer operation, was much better today thanks to voluntary blood transfusions from prisoners he put behind bars.

After Judge O'Connor underwent surgery Monday, hospital officials issued a plea for blood donations. Sheriff William Hirsch asked for volunteers and 18 trustees at the county jail responded.

When the word got around to other inmates they also responded. The sheriff picked out six donors.

One prisoner whom the judge sentenced last June to six months instead of a full three-year term for parole violation said: "He gave me a break when I didn't have one coming, and I'd like to help pay him back."

Another prisoner said he didn't blame the judge for sentencing him.

"I don't blame him for putting me in here," he said. "He did what he had to do and he could have done a lot worse."

HAMMOND, Ind., (AP) — Two men dressed identically in hunting caps and plaid sports shirts today held up the Woodmar branch of the Hoosier State Bank of Hammond.

Clem Gargula, cashier of the bank's main headquarters, said the loot was between $10,000 and $15,000.

Gargula said the men, whom he described as young, walked in the bank and forced six customers and four employees to lie on the floor. No one was injured.

Henry Mueller, a Republican and general partner of the Mueller Furniture Co., Grand Rapids, Mich. was named as Teetor's successor.

ELDORADO'S OLDEST AND LARGEST

Thanksgiving

Lord God, we give Thee thanks this day Humbly, in our simple way. For all the gracious gifts which Thou Hast deigned so richly to endow— For life—for every passing minute— For this, Thy world, and all things in it!

We give Thee thanks, dear Lord, for these— The green beneficence of trees. The kindness of rain, the birth Of springtime from a barren earth— The earth that bears the bread we break In gratitude for Thy sweet sake.

We thank Thee, Lord, for healing song. For courage, wise and tall and strong; For all the laughter and the tears That mould the pattern of our years: For truth and trust and constancy. For faith that lets us lean on Thee!

We give Thee thanks for ears to hear. For feet to tread Thy pathways here. For hands to touch, and lips to sing Thy name in every lovely thing— For friendship with our fellow men— But mostly for Thy love.

AMEN

Hornung Named UP Midwest Back of Week

CHICAGO — Notre Dame's "take charge guy," quarterback Paul Hornung, never was more important to the Irish than he was Saturday against Iowa.

Hornung, a 205 pound junior, has been the key player for the unbeaten Irish all season. He has carried the ball 83 times and gained 377 yards. He has completed 36 of 81 passes for 484 yards and eight touchdowns.

In addition he has been a nearly brilliant signal caller whom Coach Terry Brennan has tabbed throughout the season as "an improving player."

Saturday the improvement came close to perfection. Iowa scored with less than eight minutes to play, and then had to kick off. Hornung returned the ball 23 yards to his own 38 yard line.

Then in quick succession he turned the game around. He passed to Gene Kapish for 17 yards, and to Dick Prendergast for 15. He sent Dick Fitzgerald through the middle on a draw play for 15 yards. One pass fell dead before he connected to Jim Morse in the end zone for 17 yards and a touchdown.

He quickly place-kicked the point after touchdown, his second of the day. When Iowa couldn't get out of the shadow of its own goal posts and had to punt, he quickly moved his team downfield again.

Hornung's 35-yard pass to Morse to Iowa's nine set the stage for the game-winning field goal. On fourth down the Irish held the ball on the Hawkeye three before a penalty for coaching from the sidelines put it back on the 18.

Then Hornung, from Louisville, Ky., booted it accurately through the goal posts for the winning points.

"I'll take Hornung for quarterback against anybody," Brennan said. "He's got a lot to learn, but he's learning it, fast."

Murder in Haiti

by John W. Vandercook

Published by NEA Service, Inc. Copyright 1955 by John W. Vandercook.

Good Friday. The key was on a rawhide leather cord around the dead man's neck.

It was, of course, the first place we should have looked. It was only our squeamish distaste which had made us put off that obvious thought so long.

The steel box in the brief case opened readily. Inside it was a single document. It was typed in luxuriant and wordy German. Each page bore inked initials. At the bottom of the last sheet was an array of signatures. The largest, written with a scrawling flourish, made me whistle low and long. Lynch was smiling like a cat.

A cat before, not after, dining.

"A will," he said. "A most important will. I will be frank with you, Bobby. This is even more than I had hoped to find."

No one moved and no one spoke until he came back.

Dr. Lund completed his examination quickly. He told us little that we did not already know about how Braun met his death.

"Another question," Lynch said. "After having received the injuries which you dressed last night would Meer have been capable of further marked exertion?"

Lund thought for a moment. "I should say if Herr Meer had made that additional physical exertion, perhaps coupled with emotional excitement, that it would precisely explain the condition of shock and extreme exhaustion which you saw this morning."

"And he is now better?"

"He will soon, I should say, have recovered completely."

"Another question," The stab wound Braun received during the voyage over. How serious was it?"

Lund considered for a moment. "I have no doubt it was uncomfortable. But at no time was it serious. I felt that Braun made far too much of it. I believe he was a physical coward."

Lynch nodded. "Would it have been difficult or painful for him to have climbed down a rope from the ship's side and make his way up the hill unaided?"

"Not in the least."

We walked behind him like a couple of jailers to his room. We heard the key turn in the lock. We returned to the cabin in which Braun lay.

In an inside pocket he found a shabby leather bilcase which still had the look of having once been of the best and most expensive quality. Fixed to one corner were two initials, in gold, in Gothic script. They were "M.B."

Braun's papers noted his birth in Baravia 55 years before, they gave his profession as "office worker."

The only thing which was in any way exceptional about them was that there were two complete sets in separate compartments of the wallet. One was for the Western Zone of Germany, the other for the Eastern Soviet Zone.

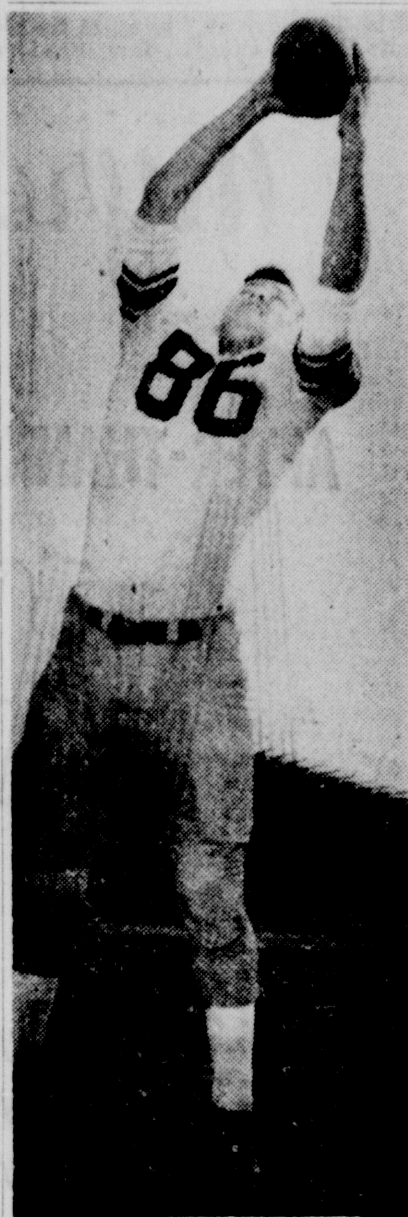

We then turned to what a lawyer would have called Braun's "effects." Under the bed and on top of the wardrobe were stowed three suitcases. One was leather, so old that it left a reddish stain on the carpet when we moved it. The other two were of a cheap black cardboard composition. Since Braun had unpacked and distributed his entirely undistinguished possessions in the cabin's closet and bureau drawers, all three were empty. But one—the smaller of the two cardboard jobs—had a false bottom.

Lynch spotted it at once. A cross-eyed customs' inspector with a month's experience could have done as much. The inside depth of the suitcase was an inch and a half less than the outside measurement. That was that. Lynch had it up in no time with his fingernails.

Underneath was a brief case. One of those thin, floppy, worn brief cases which every second German took to carrying after World War II as an adjunct to whatever black market operation in which he might be engaged. But the moment one picked it up, its ordinariness ended.

Inside that simple but effective disguise had been constructed a thin steel box. It measured about 12 by 16 inches and was not much more than an inch thick. The steel of which it was made was polished and obviously of the hardest temper. No mere can opener was going to do for this. It was locked with a tiny but most effective looking cylindrical lock. Lynch hunted for the key.

When at last he found it, the usually reserved and easily shocked Lynch swore like a London fish peddler caught fishless on

Two Workers Killed In Ditch Cave-In

URBANA, Ill. — William Meeks, 25, Urbana, and William Kranning, 22, Champaign, were killed Tuesday in a ditch cave-in on a sewer construction project.

The men were working behind a ditch digging machine on a new sanitary sewer line project by drainage contractor Verne Scott.

The falling clay and sand covered Meeks' head but Kranning was able to keep his head clear. Other workmen freed them after about an hour but both died at Carle Memorial hospital. Doctors said Kranning apparently died of internal injuries.

Wildcats Red Hot, Defeat Cave 98 to 42

Carrier Mills Takes Control Early;
Rollins Scores 39

Carrier Mills' Wildcats were red-hot last night and buried Cave-in-Rock under an avalanche of baskets to take a 98-42 decision. The game was played at Cave-in-Rock.

Taking control of the game at the very start, Carrier Mills ran up a 27 first quarter lead and continued to dominate play until the final whistle sounded.

Coach Claude Shelton's starting five had O. Rollins at center, V. Rollins and Fitts at forwards and Reid and Storms at the guard spots. They pulled the iron-man stunt, playing the entire game without substitution.

O. Rollins, after an under-par three quarters, went wild in the final period to score 22 points and take the game's scoring honors with 39 for the night. He was ably supported by his teammates, all of them scoring, three in double figures.

Carrier Mills hit from the floor at a remarkable rate, connecting for 37 baskets in 58 attempts for a shooting percentage of .638. By quarters CM hit 8 of 11, 6 of 13, 8 of 16 and topped it with 15 of 18 in the last frame.

The 'Cats won take a week's rest, their next game being listed for Dec. 2, when Johnston City comes to the CM gym.

Cave-in-Rock won the preliminary game, 67-50.

Michigan State's Daugherty Named Coach of Week

EAST LANSING, Mich. — He took his lumps with a grin last year when the Rose Bowl champions he inherited lost game after game.

He beat his critics to the punch by saying, "We proved we could lose gracefully, but I guess we overdid it."

It was his first season as head coach. He had taken over a football dynasty, only to see it crumble in his hands.

When the dust settled, he picked up the useable pieces, added some promising but untested material and built his own football powerhouse.

He's the United Press Coach of the Week. Hugh (Duffy) Daugherty of Michigan State, whose team ended its 1955 season last Saturday with an 8-1 record and a summons to the Rose Bowl, beating Marquette 33-0.

It was one of the finest comebacks ever staged in college football.

Daugherty gives the credit to his coaching staff and his players. "The coaches were a year older and a year wiser," he said. "As for the players, the seniors worked like eager sophomores, and the sophomores came through like veterans."

Daugherty declined to predict the outcome of Michigan State's Rose Bowl clash with UCLA.

"But we'll do our best to carry on the great record of Big Ten teams in past years," he said. The record includes a Michigan State victory over UCLA in 1953 when Biggie Munn was head coach.

Shawneetown Indians Beat Rosiclare, 91-73

Shawneetown and Vienna were victorious in Greater Egyptian conference play Tuesday evening, defeating Rosiclare and Ridgway respectively. Only two league games were on schedule.

The victory put Shawneetown at the top of the conference standings with three victories and no defeats. Until last night, Shawneetown had shared the top spot with Galatia, each owning two wins. Vienna now has a record of two victories and one loss.

Shawneetown, after leading 20-13 at the quarter, faltered slightly in the second frame and trailed 37-36 at halftime intermission. Play was even in the third quarter and in the final frame the winning Indians went on a scoring rampage, counting 31 markers and holding Rosiclare to 16, making the final count Shawneetown 91, Rosiclare 73.

"The team was great in that last quarter, playing the kind of ball I have been wanting all season," Shawneetown coach Valter said after the game.

The scoring spread was just about perfect with only nine points separating the first and fifth high scorers. The first five scorers totaled 22, 19, 16, 15 and 13 for a balanced attack.

Rosiclare's D. Seay was tops for the game with 25.

Vienna's tremendous height advantage spelled the difference in the 96-64 victory scored by Vienna over Ridgway.

Penrod and Yandell, a couple of 6-3 boys counted 24 and 19 respectively for Vienna.

Mills, 5-10 guard, was tops for Ridgway with 26 points.

Picking the Grid Winners IN THE Sport Parade

NEW YORK — Fraley's favorites and the weekend football "winners" — or giving you your "turkeys" a day early.

Game Of The Week

Army over Navy — The Middles are a 6½ point favorite but this is one of those traditionals in which anything can happen and usually does. The factor here is George Welsh's passing and Army's strength in the middle of the line. Our theory is that the tackle-to-tackle Army superiority and plunging power will produce a Catet triumph.

Thursday's Main Course
Cornell over Penn — Could be real close.

Colgate over Brown — Indian banquet.

Texas Aggies over Texas — Climaxing a comeback season.

Also: Miami, Ohio, over Cincinnati, Wichita over Tulsa, William and Mary over Richmond, VPI over VMI, Denver over Wyoming and Utah over Utah State.

Saturday's Turkey Hash

Boston College over Holy Cross — The Pilgrims would have been horrified at such lack of brotherly love. The table manners will be on the violent side.

Turkey Hash With Chitlins

Georgia Tech over Georgia — Form here means little but what there is calls for an engineering triumph.

Miami over Florida — Gator steaks, with gravy.

Auburn over Alabama — Plain and fancy.

Tennessee over Vanderbilt — Looking for the big bounce.

West Virginia over North Carolina State—Non-skid platter.

LSU over Tulane — Just one of those things.

Clemson over Furman — Tryin' to match Army's 81-0 win.

South Carolina over Virginia — Which would be an upset of sorts.

Turkey Hash With Steak
TCU over SMU — The Christians are going to feed on the erstwhile Lions. TCU is heading for the Cotton Bowl and knows it has to be up for a threatening SMU team. The Mustangs haven't been winning the big ones but they'll be no push over.

Baylor over Rice—An even ball game. To coin a phrase, it depends on how the ball bounces.

Texas Tech over Hardin-Simmons—Raiding the ice box for a snack.

Turkey Hash With Pork Chops
Colorado over Colorado Aggies—Tough dish to handle.

New Mexico over Brigham Young—The blueplate special.

Turkey Hash and Mulligan Stew
Notre Dame over Southern Cal, which saves a lot of prestige for fonia — This could be the one the West Coast. USC will have to work like a Trojan but it figures in vain. The Fighting Irish should take that golden shillelagh and wrap it right around the opposition's neck.

Ford Attacks Illinois Use Tax

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—Ford Motor Co. today was among the parties attacking Illinois' 1955 use tax law, which levies a 2½ per cent tax on out-of-state purchases for use in Illinois.

Ford filed a petition in Sangamon County Circuit Court asking for an order barring state officials from enforcing the act on grounds it is unconstitutional. Like a half-dozen other firms which previously filed suits, Ford said the law was vague and does not apply equally to all purchasers.

Ford asked that $2,518 in use taxes paid by its aircraft division be held in the protest fund pending outcome of the suit. Ford has numerous plants and facilities in the Chicago area.

Army to Unlock Files on Junkets By Congressmen

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Defense Department today ordered closely guarded records of congressional junketing unlocked in preparation for making them public for the first time.

The Pentagon, acting on the urging of a non-junketing member of Congress, said it would disclose how many congressmen used military transportation for overseas travel and how many took their wives, aides and "guests" along.

The decision became known at the same time the government-owned Panama Canal Co. clamped a lid of secrecy on how many congressmen are taking 15-day cruises to Panama at taxpayer expense aboard company liners.

W. M. Whitman, company secretary, told a reporter that it was a "long standing" policy of the company's board of directors to keep secret how many congressmen are taking the free cruises.

Records in Storage
The Defense Department said "several thousand" flight manifests must be hauled out of storage in Kansas City, Mo., and examined along with records of "hundreds of changes" in congressional itineraries before full details of congressional junkets are made public. The department said it would take between six and eight weeks to compile the records.

Members of Congress, flocking to all parts of the globe, probably racked up an all-time record for overseas junkets this year. About
